BORDER IMMERSION TRIPS TO SACRED HEART, EL PASO

In the coming year, the Jesuit Social Research Institute and the Ignatian Solidarity Network, together with the UCS Province, will be piloting border immersion trips to our parish in El Paso. The first trip is scheduled for March 14-18, 2017, and will be for parish groups and other adults. We will cross the border into Juarez, so passports are necessary for those who want to make the trip across the border. The March trip will be led by Frs. Rafael Garcia and Eddie Gros. More details, including a tentative schedule and cost, will be available soon. We are hoping for teams of two or three people from each parish so that they can work together to bring what they learn on the trip back to their parish communities. Contact Mary Baudouin – mbaudouin@jesuits.org if you are interested in joining a trip.

NATIONAL MIGRATION WEEK: JANUARY 7-14

For nearly a half century, the Catholic Church in the United States has celebrated National Migration Week, an opportunity for the Church to reflect on the circumstances confronting immigrants, refugees, children, and human trafficking survivors. This year's theme, "Many Journeys, One Family," draws attention to the fact that all of our families have a migration story: some recent and others in the distant past. Regardless of where we are and where we came from, we remain part of the human family and are called to live in solidarity with one another. Check out the Justice for Immigrants website for different resources, including the National Migration Week toolkit with bulletin inserts, homily suggestions, community engagement ideas and other resources to help your community celebrate.

A TENDER AND TRAGIC MIGRATION STORY FROM SACRED HEART PARISH EL PASO

from Fr. Rafael Garcia, SJ

In May, Casa Vides, one of the Annunciation House hospitality homes for migrants and refugees close to our parish, received a young mother in her fifth month of pregnancy who had fled El Salvador. I had the opportunity to meet her and interview her for the house's survey regarding the journey and the situation in the detention centers. Our young mother was a college student, working toward a career. In the midst of her studies, she was threatened by drug gangs and had to flee on short notice. After traveling through Mexico, she sought asylum at the border. She was processed and detained for three months, during which time she was moved to six different detention centers in New Mexico and West Texas.

While in detention, she had complications with her pregnancy and was taken to the hospital once. At the detention centers she often had to sleep on the floor. Through the intervention of Annunciation House, and due to her medical situation, she was released to Casa Vides. She was welcomed by the staff and community and received loving care and hospitality; this would be her home for seven months.

In Sept., her baby boy was born. He was welcomed by all! Her asylum case was still being evaluated and she had legal representation. About a month ago, she received notice of deportation, but ICE gave her an opportunity for a month's visit with her undocumented mother who is here in the U.S. and whom she had not seen in 13 years. Upon return from the visit, she soon learned that her deportation would be in four days.

In recent times, she expressed interest in having her baby boy baptized, and we at Sacred Heart were ready to assist her, but she later decided it was best to wait to return to El Salvador and do the baptism with family. On the 2nd Sunday of Advent, she came with her baby and a group of staff and residents from Casa Vides to have her baby "presented" at the 8 a.m. Mass. We did a presentation ritual and anointed her son in preparation for future baptism. In the accompanying photo, she is signing her son with the Sign of the Cross. The next day at 4:30 am, they were at the ICE offices for deportation. Both are returning to family, but to a violent situation. She fled El Salvador due to fear for her life. We pray for the two of them, for their safety and well-being as they take up a new Cross and chapter in life.

These types of deportations are occurring regularly.

SOCIAL GRANTS HIGHLIGHT OF THE MONTH:

Each month we are highlighting one of the recipients of the UCS Province social grants, which are given out by the UCS Province in the spring of each year. This month we give a big shout out to the newly formed Ignatian Volunteer Corps (IVC) in Denver. Last September 2016, a group of parishioners from St. Ignatius Loyola Parish and Fr. Tom Cwik began exploring how they could start this program that provides men and women aged 50 and over opportunities to serve the poor and develop their own spirituality. In just a little over a year, the new Denver IVC chapter is up and running under the leadership of part-time director Erin Benson. Ten Ignatian volunteers have now been placed in six placement sites in the Denver area, including Boys Hope Girls Hope; Mile High Youth Corps; St. Francis Center; SAME (So All May Eat) Café; the African Community Center, and La Escuela de

SOLIDARITY WITH JESUITS AND THE PEOPLE OF HONDURAS – YOUR ACTION IS NEEDED!

In recent days, we have learned that there have been blatant attempts to silence Fr. Ismael Moreno, SJ (known in Honduras as Padre Melo), and other human rights leaders in Honduras. Flyers have circulated on social media falsely accusing Padre Melo and eight other regional leaders of inciting violence and involvement in narcotics trafficking. Fr. Roberto Jaramillo, SJ, president of the conference of Jesuit provincials in Latin America and the Caribbean, issued a letter defending Padre Melo, and compared the flyer to “death threats which circulated in El Salvador before the 1977 murder of Jesuit Fr. Rutilio Grande. “Be a patriot – kill a priest,” said the flyers in that case.

This attack on Padre Melo and others is the most recent in a series of events that have further compromised justice and truth in Honduras surrounding the country's November 26th presidential election.

For this reason, we urge you to send a message to your members of Congress to call for the U.S to:

- take a stand for democracy and the rights of the Honduran people;
- voice indignation regarding the Honduran government's pre- and post-election process, including the recent recognition of Juan Orlando Hernandez as president and the widespread violations of the Honduran people's rights.
- suspend military and police aid to Honduras. U.S. funds should not contribute to increased violence and repression by the Honduran government against its own people.

Stand with Padre Melo as a voice for human rights, justice, and truth in Honduras by contacting your members of Congress today! This is an especially significant act of solidarity for us in the UCS Province because of our fraternal agreement with the Central American Province.
